We appreciate so very much how You have blessed America and how You have blessed the state of Michigan. I pray now, Father, that You would be with these Senators, and, Father, I pray that You would help them throughout the day. Again, we thank You for the way You have called them to this particular task. Father, I pray that You would give them great wisdom, insight, and discernment. Again, we thank You for their dedication.

I pray You be with their families; bless them. Father, again, I pray that much would be accomplished for You this day and for us as we look to the blessings that are ours because we are Your children. Thank You again for these men and ladies.

The question being on concurring in the committee recommendation to give the bill immediate effect,

The recommendation was concurred in, 2/3 of the members serving voting therefor.

The Senate agreed to the title as amended.

The bill was referred to the Secretary for enrollment printing and presentation to the Governor.

Senators Schuitmaker, Hertel, Ananich and O’Brien asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Schuitmaker’s statement is as follows:

I rise today to express my extreme, sincere disappointment in the lack of leadership in our neighboring chamber to put the safety of Michigan’s children first. In December, I met with Larry Nassar’s victims, as well as you, and they were adamant that their goal was to prevent childhood sexual assault and provide survivors of assault with greater opportunities to hold predators accountable. It is unfortunate that legislative focus shifted to political correctness and not the safety of our children. I will support this legislation because it moves the bar down the road, but there is much to be done that we can still do to protect children and hold predators accountable.

I challenge each of us to do more. Every victim and survivor deserves justice, not just those whose names and predators make national headlines.

Senator Hertel's statement is as follows:

I rise to express my disappointment and frustration with this bill package. I first want to commend the work of all of us here in the Senate, specifically Senator O'Brien and Senator Knezek. This is not a "no" vote explanation. I will support this legislation as it is an improvement over current law.

That being said, I am extremely disappointed in the severe limits of justice contained in these bills. Michigan law should never have given protections to perpetrators of sexual assault. Michigan law should never have given protections to institutions that knew or looked the other way. These bills have been whittled down to only provide justice for certain survivors. Colleagues, we owe every—every single—survivor access to justice.

Colleagues, I reluctantly urge you to vote "yes," but I also urge you to say that this is not enough; that I will not rest and our work is not done until every survivor has access to justice; that I will not rest and our work is not done until Michigan law removes every barrier—every rock—that a perpetrator can hide behind. That is our job here.

I am sorry for the survivors that this process failed. I am sorry that the House of Representatives so drastically decided to limit justice. I apologize to all of you for the other chamber. We all must commit ourselves to the fact that this work is not done. I ask that my colleagues vote "yes," reluctantly, and I ask that my colleagues continue to battle and to fight to make sure that all survivors have justice.

Senator Ananich's statement is as follows:

This legislation is the result of incredibly brave young women coming forward to shed light on what will be one of the darkest events in our state's history. We have heard their stories, and because of the strength of the sisterhood of survivors, that monster is behind bars and they can seek justice; and they can begin the healing process. But what about those who don't have a network to turn to? The one or two who continue to suffer in the dark and have yet to come forward or realize the truth about what happened to them? The changes made in the House do not go far enough to ensure they, too, can get justice someday.

I have to say I am disappointed that our colleagues in the House watered-down these bills and shortened the timeframe that victims of these heinous acts have to come forward. What these bills do is balance the rights of predators with the rights of survivors, and I am appalled by how survivors were treated in the House committee. Here in the Senate, we demonstrated that we were willing to deliver the full scope of justice. These bills are still better than what is currently on the books, and I will be reluctantly supporting them today. But our work is not done here, and my caucus will continue to fight for these survivors.

Senator O'Brien's statement is as follows:

I would like to speak to Senate Bill Nos. 871 and 872. These bills were introduced for different reasons, but they came together as a result of a number of the Nassar survivors coming forward and speaking with legislators and sharing their findings about Michigan and what we do and do not do to protect our children from sexual assault. Additionally, many of us met with other women who have been affected by sexual assault—including rape—all across Michigan. When these bills were introduced, it was really about changing the conversation about sexual assault for women, men, kids—most importantly, for our kids. One out of five girls are sexually assaulted as a child, one out of twenty boys, and too often, the conversation is about blaming the victim and not helping them seek justice. These bills were intended to help them seek justice.

The Nassar survivors, these women, they lent their names and their support because they wanted to change the statistics, especially for our kids. Now some legislators chose to focus this package on them—the survivors—instead of the kids, claiming they wanted a paycheck, but nothing was further from the truth. There are other legislators who thought the package wasn't needed once a settlement was reached with Michigan State University, but that also isn't true. You see, these women were not about themselves, they were about improving our state and trying to eradicate childhood sexual abuse. This is what the package was about. This isn't about a court case, it's about our kids.

Now, while I'm relieved that there was a settlement, I'm very disappointed and saddened by the changes in some of the bills and the refusal to even vote on other bills in the package. A real opportunity was missed to walk the talk. Legislators say, "We care about kids," but this package limits their ability to address their predator, and if it's a kid in government care, there is even less ability to correct that harm. All kids are valued regardless of who cares for them.

I will accept this outcome for these two bills, and like the other speakers, I will reluctantly ask you to vote, "yes." But I will not end my fight—our fight—to eradicate childhood sexual assault. I want to thank you for standing strong for our children. Your votes have spoken loudly, and the people of Michigan know that you care about ending childhood sexual abuse.

Statements

Senator Bieda asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Bieda's statement is as follows:

I'm rising to offer a memorial statement in honor of the life and memory of William Morelli, Sr., whose funeral was held last week. During his 79 years, William was an inexhaustible businessman, public servant, volunteer, and community leader.

William—I used to call him Bill; some would call him Bill—was born on July 2, 1938 and grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1956, he graduated from Withrow High School in Cincinnati. He obtained a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1960. William then began his career as a financial analyst and manufacturing representative while also serving as a member of the Army ROTC. In 1975, he pursued a career in the aerospace engineering field, and moved to Michigan. William, along with his partners Bruce Robertson and Helmut Schmitz, founded Caratron Gear and Manufacturing, where he served as President and CEO until he retired in 2000. In 2005, William won election to the Fraser City Council where he served until April 2015. During his time on the City Council, he was elected to serve as Mayor pro tem.

In addition to his work on the Fraser City Council, he worked as Executive Director of the Italian-American Cultural Society from 2006 to 2014. He was a greatly-admired individual who always remembered to respect others and to serve with a great deal of dignity.

Because of Bill's strong sense of dedication and family values, he was also very active in the community. He was a man of deep faith, and he instilled that faith in all aspects of his life, including volunteering at St. Ronald Catholic Church in Clinton Township. He was a member and later chairman of the Michigan Works! Macomb/St. Clair Workforce Development Board of Directors, a Henry Ford Macomb Hospital trustee, and a member of the Macomb Community College Foundation Board of Directors. He also served as the President and Chairman of the Italian-American Chamber of Commerce of Michigan and was a member of the Sterling Heights Regional Chamber of Commerce. He was ordained as a reverend in July 2009 and he loved performing personalized marriage and vow-renewal ceremonies. I also remember Bill from something he was very well-known for in the community: he liked to play Santa Claus at Angie's Toy Chest's annual Toys for Tots event and I have more than a couple selfies with Mayor Morelli in his Santa Claus outfit.

Bill was cherished by many, but especially his family who will remember that he was always there with a smile, a big hug, and a kind and thoughtful word. William was the beloved husband of Angie; father of Paula, Melissa, Cathi, William, Jack, and Angela; and proud grandfather of 14. He was loved in the community and will be remembered for his many contributions to the community, but also for his inherent human decency and kindness.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of William A. Morelli, Sr., former member of the Fraser City Council.
